

February 2019 Update - Rough Sleeping on Stroud Green Road

We would like to update you on the work being undertaken to engage and support the vulnerable people sleeping rough under Stroud Green Road (SGR) railway bridge, since our last briefing in December 2018.

What are we doing to help?

- Both Islington and Haringey Council commission specialist outreach services (St Mungo's and Thamesreach) who visit this location regularly to offer routes off the streets to those sleeping rough. Other specialist agencies, including substance use services and Greenlight medical, visit this area to offer support specific support around substance use and physical health.
- During the recent cold weather spell, everyone rough sleeping at this location was offered immediate access to accommodation via the severe emergency weather provision. Sadly, few people took up this offer. Our outreach teams cannot force people to accept offers of accommodation and support, but will continue to offer this.
- Over the last two years, outreach teams have supported 34 people into accommodation who were bedding down at this site.
- We trialled a floating hub in September 2018, which accommodated 24 individuals rough sleeping in this area and we continue to look at innovative ways of supporting people.
- We are working with the local neighbourhood police teams, safer transport police and British Transport police to ensure co-ordinated efforts in addressing drug related activity and criminality.
- Islington and Haringey Council, along with relevant partners meet regularly to review support for individuals and wider approach.
- We carry out planned deep cleans of the area, ensuring outreach support is available at the same time to engage with people.

Issues this brings

- Few people took up offers of accommodation during the recent severe weather, putting themselves at significant risk by choosing to remain on the streets.
- Some individuals, despite having access to accommodation and wrap around support, continue to return to SGR to sleep rough – being drawn back due to substance use.
- We are concerned that the vulnerable people bedding down here are being exploited by drug dealers, taking money in exchange for Class A drugs and that this area is becoming hostile as a result, with one rough sleeper recently being stabbed.
- We also believe one of the draws to this location is that people are being given large sums of money by generous and well-meaning members of the public which is funding their substance use. This is why some people are reluctant to engage with support on offer to move away from the streets.

- The temporary structures are a health and safety hazard to those that sleep in them and we are concerned about the risks, especially as one caught on fire at the end of last year. Additionally, we are concerned about the potential risk of a fatal overdose at this location.
- There are some people, who despite continued offers of accommodation and support, remain rough sleeping at this location and their health and wellbeing is deteriorating and they remain at risk of harm.
- Both councils have had increased contact from members of the public, local residents and the business community, raising concerns for their safety and the significant detrimental impact the associated anti-social behaviour is having on them. This includes open drug use, criminality, health and safety issues including cleanliness of the area and pedestrians being forced to walk into the cycle lane.

Going forwards

- Islington Council has lodged an application to prevent anyone from rough sleeping, begging or other anti-social behaviour under the railway bridge next to Finsbury Park station on Stroud Green Road. This is an area based injunction and people will be able to move freely elsewhere. This measure will help us to encourage people to engage with the support that is being offered to them, whilst also addressing the issues in the area under the bridge.
- We will continue to work with every person who we find sleeping rough on Stroud Green Road, as we do elsewhere in the borough, to encourage them into accommodation and help get themselves back on track.
- We hope that this place based injunction will encourage the take up of support and mean that people can be supported away from the streets more quickly.
- Those currently bedding down in this area who are likely to be affected by this will continue to be offered support and provided with details of where they can access free, independent legal advice.
- Islington Council is committed to preventing homelessness and is investing in vital support for rough sleepers. As part of a pioneering new scheme, the council has also recently opened a 15 bed shelter in partnership with Camden Council, which is focused on providing accommodation and intensive support for rough sleepers to help them to move away from the streets permanently. What can I do to help?

- Talk to the person. Being kind and interested can be invaluable.
- Consider donating to a homeless charity or a night shelter in Islington or Haringey (details below).
- If you see someone new rough sleeping, report this to Streetlink giving as much detail as you can on their location and a description of the person to help the team identify them.
- Buy a copy of The Big Issue magazine from a registered vendor.
- Signpost people to relevant services and day centres (see below) where they can get help.
- Consider volunteering your time with a local organisation to help those on the streets.
- If you see drug dealing/drug related activity – please report this to the Police via 101 as this helps police to build up an intelligence picture and target their resources.
